

THE VILLAGE CHINGUDIJHARAN: GETTING OVER THE TRAUMA OF SCARCITY OF WATER

The need for piped water supply in the village Chingudijharan located in Reamal block of Deogarh district in Orissa became emergent when the villagers continued to suffer from many water borne diseases. The traditional water sources being more or less contaminated were completely unsafe. The water from tube wells was full of iron content and unpalatable. The Socemunt a4/ nt
